Rule 11. Notice of Settlement

In every civil case, appellant, either personally or through counsel, shall give this Court immediate notice of the settlement or pending settlement of a case on appeal. The notice shall include specifics as to the expected completion of the settlement and submission of joint motion to dismiss the pending appeal; the joint motion to dismiss must be filed within 30 days of the notice of settlement unless a later date is authorized by the court. When a civil case has been set for hearing on an appellate calendar and is orally argued, an appellant or counsel for appellant who fails to give the required notice within 14 days after the case is orally argued may be sanctioned for contempt. When a civil case has been set on an appellate calendar and is submitted without oral argument, an appellant or counsel for appellant who fails to give the required notice within 14 days after the last day of oral argument for that appellate calendar may be sanctioned for contempt.
